AN OLD FEUD REVIVED.

Kentuckians Shoot Down Their Families' Enemies as in Days of Old.

An Aged Judge and Respected Citizen the Latest Victim of a Feud.

Big Stone Gap, Va., Oct. 17.—The French-Eversole feud has started afresh in Perry county, Kentucky. Bob May, an ex-member of the Kentucky legislature, and one of the principals of the Eversole side, is here from Hazard, the seat of the county and of the war. Judge Josiah Combs, the father-in-law of the dead Eversole leader, is dead. The leader of the French faction, whose name is Fraser Fulton French, and two others of his faction have been arrested for his murder and more trouble will follow. Judge Combs was seventy years old, and lived in Hazard. Early on Sunday morning, two weeks ago, he stepped across the street where young Cash Eversole and two others were talking. A rifle cracked from the cornfield just over the fence, and the bullet struck the old man in the breast, and he fell. Cash Eversole wheeled and saw a man with blackened face spring up and dash through the cornfield. He says the man was Joe Adkins. At the same time other members of the French faction began firing and shouting from another direction, to divert attention from Adkins. Young Cash, with several others, ran across a little spur and hid themselves in a ravine. Three men with blackened faces soon appeared, whom the Eversoles said were Adkins, Fraser and Jesse Field. As they climbed over a bank, Will Martin, a boy in the Eversole crowd, fired and killed Fraser. The other two escaped but were captured later with Fulton French in Breathitt county. Adkins is said to have escaped but French and Field are held.

Judge Combs died in a few hours. He had never taken part in the feud, though he was a man of wealth, and in sympathy with the Eversoles and had always tried to get the French party to trial. It was his influence that was feared. Adkins is a noted desperado. More than thirty men have been killed in this feud in the last half a dozen years. It began with the killing of the head of the Confederate Cambrills, a strong Breathitt county family, but the Union Eversoles, during the war. Soon the Cambrills killed the Eversole leader and fighting went on after the war until 1884. Then Fulton French came from Virginia to Hazard and taught school, and read law with Joe Eversole, the leader of the Eversole faction. The Eversoles were the richest and strongest family in the county, and they always had a store in Hazard, which was the Republican headquarters. French rented this store from Joe Eversole for a year and opened with his clerk Bob May. French and May disagreed and May opened just across the street and made his store the Democratic headquarters of the town. When French's year was up Eversole sent him word that he must move out. French refused for some reason, and on the day the lease expired Eversole drove into town with twenty wagons of goods, moved French into the street and opened the store next morning himself. This started the war. The Gambrills took sides with the French party against their old foes, May and Eversole, though political enemies, joined their forces, and in time there were a hundred men on each side. The deadly mutual bitterness probably will outlive this generation. Sheriffs, lawyers and judges have been with the Eversoles. French is said to have hired many of the fighters. May has left Hazard, he says, through fear of assassination.

MINISTER MARTIN.

George B. Martin Re-Elected by Acclamation for North Riding of Yale.

He Pledges Himself to Oppose Any Further Aid to the British Pacific Railway.

Kamloops, Oct. 17.—George B. Martin, recently appointed chief commissioner of lands and works, was re-elected by acclamation to-day. He was nominated by Mayor Lee of Kamloops, and seconded by A. R. Carrington of Nicola. C. A. Semlin, leader of the opposition, and C. B. Sword, M. P. P., were in conference with Martin on Monday re the British Pacific railway. Particulars were not made public, but they announced themselves satisfied with Mr. Martin's position and decided not to contest the election as that was the critical point on which the fight was to have turned.

The following dispatch from Kamloops to the News-Advertiser gives a more definite account of the conference between the new minister and the leader of the opposition: "Some interesting developments have taken place there to-day in connection with the election to fill the vacancy in the representation for North Yale caused by the appointment of Mr. G. B. Martin to the position of chief commissioner of lands and works. The crucial question was the reported intention of the provincial government to grant further aid to the British Pacific scheme, and so strong was the opposition developed in the riding to that proposal, that Mr. Martin, although popular, and with the advantage of the feeling among many of the opposition electors that he should not be subjected to a contest, as the result of his acceptance of office, realized that he had no show of election unless he agreed to oppose any such project. The premier, Mr. Davie, arrived this morning, and is evidently of the same opinion as Mr. Martin, has to-day given a formal pledge that he will oppose any further aid to the British Pacific railway. In consequence of this the opposition party has agreed not to put a candidate in the field and Mr. Martin will, therefore, be returned on Wednesday by acclamation."

TO VISIT ENGLAND.

Sir John Thompson Making Preparations for His Journey.

Ottawa, Oct. 17.—Premier Thompson is preparing to leave for England. If the public business will permit he will go on Saturday, but if not then next week. Senator Sanford, of Hamilton, will accompany him. They will be away until the end of November. In this connection it is said parliament will not meet until early in February. The premier's departure puts an end to all talk of opening Lisgar and Cardwell.

French in Madagascar.

Paris, Oct. 17.—It is stated that the ultimatum sent by France to Madagascar stipulates that France shall have exclusive protectorate over that country.

TO PROTECT BRITISHERS.

Indian Troops Leave Calcutta to Look After Foreigners in Treaty Ports.

Report That Port Arthur Has Been Captured Not Credited by Officials.

London, Oct. 17.—A dispatch from Calcutta says: "In response to orders from the war office the First Rifle Brigade left here to-day for Hong Kong. The brigade is the first contingent of 8000 troops which will be dispatched from India during the next few days to protect the treaty ports of China. The other troops which will leave, include the Northumberland Fusileers, two battalions of Ghoorkas and four regiments of Sikhs.

Secretary McCatney, of the Chinese legation, declares that the Chinese have not assented to any proposals for peace between that country and Japan.

The steamer Mo Yun, recently purchased from England by the Japs has arrived although Chinese warships were on the lookout for her. She had no difficulty in entering.

A dispatch to the Central News from Wi Ju, dated Monday, says: The two opposing armies will face each other on the banks of the Yalu river. The Chinese have not fired a shot, but are night and day strengthening their defences. Count Yamagitu, the Japanese commander in chief, is awaiting the arrival of heavier artillery before attacking the Chinese position. Chinese scouts estimate that the Chinese forces altogether number thirty-five thousand men. The scouts have brought detailed information as to the conditon of the Chinese defences, showing that they are not as strong as the first reports indicated. The Chinese artillery is shown to be less formidable than the Japanese had supposed. A decisive attack is expected shortly. Various indications justify the belief that the chief stand of the Chinese will be at Kuben Chao.

A dispatch from Tokio says that several hundred Chinese prisoners, who were taken at the battle of Ping Yang, arrived in Tokio to-day. Crowds were in the streets to see the captives and followed them from the station to the prisons. The crowds were quiet and orderly, indulging in no insults or signs of exultation. The captives were distributed among several military stations.

The Japanese legation in London has received advices to the effect that the Japanese transport steamer Ariaki Maru has arrived at Yokohama from Hong Kong. A Chinese gunboat left Hong Kong a few hours before the Ariaki Maru, but, contrary to expectations, made no attempt to engage the transport.

A Tientsin dispatch says the emperor has ordered all Chinamen implicated in the recent arrest of Japanese spies to be sent to Pekin for trial. The force of troops that arrived at Pekin from Hunan and Hupeh are badly armed. Prince Kung, the emperor's uncle, is an advocate of peace at any price. A contract has been closed with an Austrian firm for the delivery of a large quantity of rifles.

Washington, Oct. 17.—No information has been received at the Japanese legation confirming the reported capture of Port Arthur, and the report is doubted. It is said that a strong force of Chinese is stationed at Port Arthur and that it could hardly be captured without a severe engagement. It is not on a line to Pekin, and the purpose thus far of the Japanese forces would indicate their determination to go around Port Arthur, rather than waste time in trying to effect its capture.

THE CZAR GROWING WORSE.

So It Is Stated by a Berlin Paper—Doctors Consult.

Berlin, Oct. 17.—A paper here prints the statement that the czar is rapidly growing worse.

The entire Greek court will receive the czar upon his arrival at Athens en route to Corfu.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 16.—A special edition of the Official Messenger, issued this evening, contains a bulletin signed by Drs. Leyden, Zacharin, Popu and Atefuminoff, the czar's physicians, stating that on consultation to-day they found no improvement in the kidney disease from which the czar is suffering, and that his majesty's strength has diminished since the last examination. They hope, however, that the climate of the southern Crimea will benefit him.

TO INCREASE CIRCULATION.

The British Dollar to be Coined for Use in Eastern Colonies.

London, Oct. 17.—At a meeting of the directors of the chartered bank of India, Australia and China held this afternoon the chairman announced that the government had given sanction to the coinage of a British dollar for circulation in the Straits Settlement and Hong Kong. The fall in the price of silver, he said, had affected the eastern trade and lessened the export of the Mexican dollar to such an extent as to threaten the eastern colonies with a total absence of currency. In these circumstances the treasury has sanctioned the coinage of the British dollar in Bombay, which would possibly be in circulation in the east early in 1895.

CABLE NEWS.

Irish-Americans Complain Against the Healyite Squabbles.

London, Oct. 16.—The Freeman's Journal publishes a letter written by Dr. Thomas Addis Emmett, president of the Irish-American federation, and addressed to Joseph F. Fox, member of parliament, in which the writer declines to accede to the request made by Commoners Fox and Molloy, that a portion of the executive committee of the Irish-American federation be nominated in the interests of Mr. Healy. Dr. Emmett also wrote that the information he had obtained while in London would be duly reported to the trustees of the federation. "Whatever the action may be," he said, "there is no question that the time is near when the Irish in America who are looked to for pecuniary aid will be heard from with no uncertain note if this cause of complaint (the Healyite squabbles) is continued."

During a bull fight in Dax, South France, an officer, escorted by a policeman, went to the arena to stop the sport. He laid before the directors a legal paper forbidding the fight, but was ignored by them. The foreadors continued their work until they killed the bull, amid the cheers and applause of the spectators. After the fight the crowd jostled the policemen and jeered the officers. The town is much excited, but no violence has been reported. The government order prohibiting bull fighting was proclaimed late in September.

The Havre correspondent of the Central News says: Seventy packages purporting to be furniture were landed here recently from Southampton. Upon examining them the police found that they contained a perfect arsenal of anarchist weapons, including various bombs, explosives, old arms and ammunition, skeleton keys and burglar tools. The Havre police communicated with the English police, who are trying to trace the packages to the sender.

The Italian minister of marine went aboard the warship Reumberto at Vienna to hoist the flag given to the vessel by the king. The ceremony was watched by an enormous crowd and two naval squadrons fired salutes in the harbor. The king said, in a message read by the minister: "May this flag always be a gage of my love to a fine, strong Italian navy—a navy which will represent everywhere the greatness and prosperity of the fatherland."

George Banker, the American wheelman, won the grand prize of Paris at the bicycle races yesterday. De Lansorme, a Frenchman, was second. The prize is a work of art valued at two thousand francs, to which the city council added seven hundred and fifty francs and a gold medal.

The Armenian patriarch, Azarian, in Constantinople, telegraphed the pope yesterday that the powers opposed to the union of the eastern church with the holy see had influenced the sultan against aiding the vatican in the conference next Thursday concerning the union. He would postpone his visit to Rome, therefore, until November.

The Berlin Tageblatt says that Viscount Aoki, the Japanese envoy to London, has been decorated with the highest Japanese order and has also had his pension largely increased, as a reward for the great assistance he rendered in concluding the Anglo-Japanese treaty.

The French budget committee has resolved upon an appropriation of one hundred thousand francs with which to test the efficacy of the new diphtheria serum.

A dispatch from angiers, Morocco, says: "Morocco City has been in rebellion for a week owing to the caliph's attempt to arrest the Cadi Dehama by the Sultan's order. The Caliph is now hemmed in by insurgents. The Sultan is sending troops to the scene."

A dispatch from Santiago, Chile, says President Montt retains his attitude in regard to conversion to a gold basis in July, 1896. The finance commission has recommended the raising of a European loan of two million pounds sterling to augment the conversion fund, and also that the government shall offer to convert notes from next April at the rate of 16d. and from September at the rate of 20d. until July, 1896, when the conversion law becomes operative. On Tuesday the chamber of deputies will meet in extraordinary session to discuss the finance commission's proposals and other matters. A vote of confidence in the present ministry will be asked for.

Captain Batty will lead a small expedition to the Arctic Ocean to seek his brother and his companion, Hyland, both naturalists, who landed on the island of Kolguevin in June last and have not been heard from since.

A meeting to protest against the Turkish outrages in Armenia was held in London this evening. Francis S. Stevenson, M. P., chairman of the Anglo-Armenian Association, presided. The speaker complained of the apathy of the British foreign office and of the Church of England in the matter. Resolutions were passed protesting against Turkey preventing Armenians from emigrating to the United States and other countries, and against other restrictions.

A dispatch from St. Petersburg says that thirty students of the Technological institute have been arrested on the charge of being members of a Nihilist society.

COAST FAILURES.

Better Showing Made During September than for Previous Month.

San Francisco, Oct. 16.—The Bradstreet mercantile agency reports 71 failures in the Pacific Coast states and territories for the month of September, 1894, with assets of $190,383 and liabilities $378,648, as compared with 102 for the previous month, with assets of $561,906 and liabilities of $910,501, and [illegible] the corresponding month of 1893, with assets of $159,521 and liabilities of $328,157. The failures for the present month are divided among the states and territories as follows: California, 58, assets $105,483, liabilities $246,348; Oregon 7, assets $12,400, liabilities $29,800; Washington 6, assets $72,500, liabilities $102,500; totals 71, assets $190,383, liabilities $378,648.

AFTER VILLARD.

Ives Sues to Recover Over Two Million Dollars From the U.P.R. Directors.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 16.—The Northern Pacific company, through Brayton Ives, has petitioned Judge Jenkins to instruct the receivers to bring suits against Villard, Colgate Hoyt and Charles T. Colby to recover nearly two million six hundred thousand dollars alleged to have been made unlawfully through Northern Pacific deals.

The petition refers to the report of Master Carey and charges that Hoyt and Colby were associated with Villard in his alleged illegal deals. Besides $895,000 alleged to have been made out of the Northern Pacific and Manitoba deal, $224,800 is alleged to have been made out of the transactions of the Oregon transcontinental company, in connection with the Chicago terminal deal. About four hundred thousand dollars is alleged to have been made out of the acquisition of the Chicago, Harlem and Batavia property, and six hundred and seventy thousand from the Bridgeport, South Chicago property. From the bond distribution by the Oregon transcontinental company, the defendants are said to have made forty thousand nine hundred dollars, and from the sale of the Chicago and Northern Pacific bonds by the same company, $1,060,000. Still another bond sale is alleged to have netted $126,600.

BURGLARS' BIG HAUL.

Fourteen Thousand Dollars Stolen from the Dalles Express Office.

The Dalles, Ore., Oct. 15.—The Pacific Express office here was robbed of $14,000 early yesterday. The money was shipped from Portland on the regular Oregon railway and navigation train, which arrives here at 11 p.m. For some time the banks here have been obliged to obtain large amounts of silver from Portland to pay the fishermen and farm hands. The robbers evidently knew this fact, and made their plans accordingly. Agent F. N. Hill, after hauling the strong box from the train to the office, went away and did not return till shortly after midnight. When he returned he found the contents of the box gone, with the exception of one thousand dollars in silver. The authorities were notified at once and the matter was kept secret. Detectives are here from Portland, watching every avenue of escape. The most plausible theory advanced is that the robbers secreted themselves in the back room of the express office and waited for the agent to leave the building, as no doors nor locks were forced open. They must have known also that the express messenger, who sleeps in the office, was away attending to the horse in a stable near by. The robbers, being unable to carry all the silver, left one thousand dollars of the silver consigned to French & Co. in the box.

Ladd & Tilton, of Portland, shipped $10,000, $7,500 in gold and $2,500 in silver consigned to French & Co. The First National bank, of Portland, sent $5,000 in gold, consigned to the Dalles National bank. It seemed that the silver proved too heavy for the burglars, and they abandoned the idea of trying to get away with the entire swag. The county fair has been in session for a week past, which attracted a large number of gamblers and toughs to this city. Mr. Beckwith, agent at Portland, is here, and this afternoon he stated that he and Detective Simmons, of Portland, were working on several clews, but up to a late hour no arrests had been made. F. C. Gentsch, the general superintendent of the Pacific Express company at Salt Lake, has been notified of the robbery and is now on his way here. He is expected to arrive at The Dalles tomorrow.

City Messenger Charles Tibbets, whose duty it is to meet the night trains and keep watch in the office at night, was attending a ball, and N. F. Hill, the company's agent, met the east bound train, No. 2, from Portland, and received the treasure box. He then, in company with City Watchman Gibbons, drove to the office, deposited the box inside the rear door, and about 11.30 p.m. left for the post office to deliver the mail, which came in on the same train. City Marshal Blakeny rode back to the office with the agent, where they met M. A. Moody, cashier of The Dalles National bank, waiting to receive the money and place it in the bank's vaults. The three men entered the office, and seeing that something was wrong with the box, immediately began an investigation, which resulted in finding only $1,000 in silver in the treasure box. The lid of the box had been broken with an instrument made from a steel drill, with one end crooked and sharpened, which they found on the floor near by. The robber had tried to pry the staple from its position, but, failing, had broken the lever off the padlock. Aside from this tool and a few tracks in the street, there is no clue whatever that can be traced, so far as is known at present. That only one or two men participated in the robbery is evident from the fact that the bulky silver was thrown aside and the gold stolen, weighing considerably over 100 pounds.

Portland, Oct. 15.—The Pacific Express company will offer a reward of $2,500 for the capture of the robbers and the recovery of the booty.

BURNED TO DEATH.

Fire in a Convent Results Fatally—Four Persons Missing.

Houston, Tex., Oct. 16.—Early this morning fire was discovered in the San Jacinto boarding house on Franklin and Jacinto streets, and before the flames were got under control two lives, and probably four, were lost, five hundred thousand dollars' worth of property being destroyed. The flames quickly spread to St. Joseph's Catholic infirmary on Franklin avenue, and in spite of the efforts of the firemen the building was totally destroyed. Two sisters of the institution, Sisters Dolores and Jennie Ellis, perished in the burning building. Two patients lying in the upper story of the dormitory are missing, and it is feared they are burned to death. Another sister named Clothilde had a narrow escape. She was frightfully burned about the head and shoulders, but it is believed she will recover. The losses will aggregate half a million dollars. The origin of the fire is supposed to have been the explosion of an oil lamp. The family name of Sister Dolores was Elizabeth Boyle. Jennie Ellis was a novitiate, and removed from Montreal to San Antonio two weeks ago. It is supposed that they perished while trying to save the lives of others. The remains of those found were horribly burned and unrecognizable.

HOTTENTOTS QUELLED.

Chief Witboi Sues for Peace after Having Been Defeated.

Berlin, Oct. 16.—A dispatch from Major Leutwein, imperial commissioner to Southwest Africa, in command of an expedition operating against the powerful Hottentot chief Henrik Witboi, announces that the latter has yielded to the Germans, who have occupied his stronghold. Advices from Walforth Bay on September 25 announce that Major Leutwein on August 12 stormed Chief Witboi's camp. Witboi escaped and subsequently sent messengers with offerings of peace to the German commander. During the engagement Lieutenant Disestel and eight German troopers were killed and ten troopers were wounded. Witboi has been giving the Germans trouble for a long time.

Last May or June the customs department instructed collectors to collect duty on boom logs and chains, which hitherto had been [illegible] between Canada and the United States free. A petition addressed to the governor-general in council is being signed in Montreal asking for the disallowance of a bill passed at the last session of the legislature amending the charter of the city of Montreal, which, it is claimed, was done without the consent and against the will of the municipal authorities regularly constituted without the knowledge of the ratepayers and in violation of the united powers conferred upon them by the British North America act. It further claims that the amendments thus passed have had the effect of dispossessing ratepayers of the city of the right to transact their own business and to dispose of their own revenues as they see fit. The prime movers in the matter are all prominent Knights of Labor.

THE FIRST DRINK OF COFFEE.

When the Beverage First Came into Use in Arabia.

In the Bibliotheque Nationale there is a manuscript (near the end of the sixteenth century), written by an Arab, Abdeader, who declares that coffee was drunk for the first time in Arabia in the middle of the 15th century. Others think that certain remarks in Persian writings imply that coffee was used in Persia as early as the ninth century, but most authors dispute these texts. It is commonly supposed that the use of coffee in its earliest home, Abyssinia, and in its second home, Arabia, is only five or six centuries old.

A legend says that the angel Gabriel once, when Mohammed was ill, brought him a cup of coffee. Another legend says that a Mohammedan monk discovered that his goats became very lively and full of fun after they had eaten of the fruit of the coffee tree. This observation caused him to make the first cup of coffee. His dervishes drank it at night to produce wakefulness, when they kept vigils. Cautious historians laugh at these traditions and prefer to stand by Abelcader's manuscript. This writer mentions an Arab, Gamaleddin, a judge in Aden, who, while travelling in Persia, or, as the historians correct the manuscript, to Abyssinia, saw people use coffee as medicine. He used it and was cured of a sickness. Later, becoming a monk, he taught his brethren the use of coffee. It was then in Aden that coffee drinkers originated. The Fakeers even made coffee drinking compulsory upon their neophytes. Public coffee houses originated in Aden, and very early in history.

We do not find any opposition to the use of coffee until the middle of the sixteenth century, when the Egyptian sultan sent a new governor—Chair Bey—to Mecca. This governor knew nothing about coffee, and was greatly enraged when he saw the dervishes in the mosque drink coffee. He believed that which they did was contrary to the teaching of the Koran, and that they became intoxicated. He consulted two Persian physicians, who were opposed to coffee. They declared it was a substitute for wine, which is prohibited by the Koran, and, hence coffee drinking was a violation of Mohammed's law. To prove that coffee drinking made persons neglect religious duties, they pointed to the fact that while coffee houses were multiplying the mosques were empty.

Chair Bey called a counsel of physicians, priests and lawyers, and, on their advice, forbade absolutely the use of coffee. The police gathered all coffee that could be found and burned it in the market place. Afterward he reported to the sultan what he had done, and received the following note in reply: "Your physicians are asses. Our lawyers and physicians in Cairo are better informed. They recommend the use of coffee, and heaven because he drinks coffee." About twenty years later a man in Cairo preached against coffee and declared that coffee drinkers were poor Mohammedans. Since then coffee drinking has been unmolested and it has become a favored drink everywhere.

A class of men afflicted by the hard times in London and Paris is the army of professional promoters. The hotels where Americans most do congregate are thronged with these men, who in other days have been prosperous and cut a dash socially, politically or in a business way, but who now have a difficulty in making both ends meet. These men, some bravely keeping up appearances, but others reduced to the shabby genteel stage, eagerly scan the passenger lists of arriving steamers from America and descend upon the acquaintances and associates of former days, anxious to offer their services in return for anything from a loan of £10 to a good square meal.

BLUE BLOODED ECONOMY.

His Lordship Decided that the Jam Supply Might be Reduced.

Sir William Harcourt's story of the duke and his three confectioners in the kitchen, with whom he could not part because "a man must be able to have a biscuit," may be matched by another. The head of a very great family in Yorkshire was told by his man of business that he must retrench. He said he was perfectly willing to do so, and set to work to see how economies could be effected. Every department was looked into, the house, the gardens, the stables, and so on. There were 120 horses in the stables, not including hunters. The number could not be reduced, because "surely you would not have the boys go afoot." The gardens had to be kept up, and how could you keep up gardens without gardeners? The domestic establishment was found none too large for the size of the house. It was the same old story everywhere. Finally, after several weeks of fruitless inquiry, Lord X remarked one morning at breakfast: "I notice that we have four kinds of preserves on the table at breakfast; I think we might manage with two." This heroic suggestion was acted on, and from that day to this the family and guests in the house have had to make a breakfast as best they could with only two sorts of marmalade. When this retrenchment had been effected the subject was dropped.—New York Tribune.

PROTECTION IN AUSTRALIA.

Canadian protectionist papers have tried to make it appear that the result of the elections in Victoria colony was a victory for protection, not for free trade. The truth seems to be that neither the Patterson government nor the opposition declared for a radical reduction of the tariff, the difference between them being mainly in the matter of details. It is to be noted, however, that the free traders all supported the Turner party, which was victorious, and therefore we must assume that they found that party's policy to be most nearly in accord with their own. Therefore the irresistible conclusion is that the free trade idea is gaining ground in Victoria, though not as rapidly as in New South Wales. That the Victorians have good reason to abandon the policy of high protection and seek greater freedom of trade is well shown by the Sydney Herald in the following article, and it may be added that the same argument makes against protection everywhere:

"The figures that have been published from time to time showing the numbers of persons employed in the manufactories in New South Wales and Victoria respectively have generally suggested doubt as to the efficacy of protection in the promotion of employment. A statement by Mr. Hayter giving the numbers at the beginning of 1893 represents Victoria as employing 39,908 hands, and New South Wales 37,015. From this statement, however, certain industries were excluded because the figures for the two colonies had been compiled in different ways and could not be compared. The table is of interest so far as it goes, but its value is diminished by the consideration that at the beginning of 1892 New South Wales, like Victoria, was suffering from the blight, though not from so heavy an affliction of it. There is more interest, therefore, in another set of figures published in the Victorian Government Gazette of the 4th inst., which shows the number of hands employed in work of all kinds in Victoria for each year from 1890 to 1894 inclusive. The numbers were as follows: 1890, males 50,854, females 8327; 1891, males 49,402, females 8773; 1892 males 45,205, females 8320; 1893, males 36,695, females 7226; and 1894, males, 32,752, females 7063. Thus, in the five years there has been a decline of 18,102 males and 1264 females, or of 35 per cent. in the former case and 15 per cent. in the latter, and this has taken place under the strengthening, nourishing, invigorating, stimulating influence of protection. Of course we are not going to jump to the conclusion that this very serious decline of employment in a young community, the condition of which should naturally be progressive, is the result of protection alone. But the facts throw a peculiar light upon the reasoning of those who a few years ago attributed the progress of Victoria in industrial activity to protection. If we are to discount the bad influence of protection in these later days, we must in fairness take off an equal discount from the supposed beneficial influence of protection in those former happy days of progress. When we are told there is something else at work now, we are forced in fairness to reply, there was something else at work then. But besides that, if protection were essentially beneficial there should be more benefit when there is more protection. Now during those five years of steady decline we have witnessed the application in Victoria of more protection. The dose was increased with the marvellous two fold purpose of increasing the revenue and promoting native industry. Yet whilst the revenue has decreased—instead of increasing—there has been a steady diminution instead of increase of employment. The working men of Victoria need protection now, if ever they did, but it is protection against their so-called friends, the protectionists.

CLEAR ENOUGH.

Government organs want the people to believe that the Fosterian revision of the tariff has been the cause of a heavy decrease in the revenue and therefore of a decrease in the burden of taxation. Then they turn about and ask what the Liberals would do for revenue if they were allowed to carry out their promise of a real reform of the tariff. The inconsequence of their assertions and questions is quite apparent to all but themselves, for no man of intelligence can fail to see that if the tariff revision is doing what is claimed for it the government is face to face with the problem which the organs aver would confront the Liberals. It is no part of a Tory organ's cult that logic should be respected. Mr. Laurier has clearly shown on many occasions that the burden of taxation can be materially lightened by reforming the tariff without cutting down the revenue below what is necessary for the government of the country. Speaking at Brandon he thus illustrated his scheme of reform:

Referring to the statements made in the Conservative press that if the Liberals came into power they would be unable to reduce the duties, as the whole of the sum is needed for revenue, Mr. Laurier pointed out that without impairing the revenue great savings could be effected. How much do coal oil, barbed wire and binder twine produce annually? Out of a total of $36,000,000 of revenue, barbed wire produced last year but $5,215. This was an amount not difficult to replace, making it free, and would materially assist the whole body of farmers. On binder twine the revenue last year was not $14,000. The high duty maintained on this article was not for purposes of revenue, but for the enrichment of the cordage combine. He advocated the removal of all taxes which do not produce revenue. Then he would materially reduce the national expenditure. How? Well, first he would abolish the franchise act, and he was sure every Conservative would rejoice as much as any Liberal at its removal. This would save about $200,000 per year. Then the amount that could be saved simply by honest administration is immense.

The efficacy of the plan is quite clear to those who choose to look into it. Cut off all the waste and extravagance and so reduce the expenditure to a legitimate amount, then do away with the taxes which are now levied for combinesters' profits, not for public revenue, and the people would very soon appreciate the lightening of the tariff burden. Mr. Laurier might briefly sum up his policy by thus paraphrasing Mr. Pinckney's historic declaration: "Millions for revenue, but not one cent for tribute—to the Red Parlor."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It appears that the new commissioner of lands and works has given a pledge to the people of North Yale that he will oppose any proposition to extend any further government aid to the British Pacific railway scheme. In this respect at least Mr. Martin will follow the policy of his predecessor, who has always been personally unfavorable to the project.

Sir John Thompson would much rather go to England and take on imperial honors than face the electors of Lisgar and Cardwell. Still from some quarters we hear great boasts of the government's courage and confidence.

In a speech of the usual flatulent order which Sir Charles Tupper delivered at North Bay he said: "How much public money they have practically and morally pledged themselves to expend it is difficult to calculate, but if the minister of public works endeavored to carry out all that Mr. Laurier has promised in [illegible] there would be any money left for the improvement of Lake Nipissing." It is well within the mark to say that all the public works in the west to which Mr. Laurier's attention was called as being needed in the public service would not cost as much as the government wasted on its pets while building the Curran bridge.

Men Implicated in the Rio Riots Whipped to Death.

New York, Oct. 17.—A special to a morning paper from Rio de Janeiro says: "At the trial of Dominiques, one of those implicated in the late riots, Dominiques asserted that when arrested, with a number of others concerned in the riots, all were stripped and beaten with cords, four dying under the lash, while a number of others fainted and were thrown on the floor in a heap. When the jailers came to take them to their cells the men underneath in the heap were found suffocated.

NANAIMO NEWS.

Several Recent Accidents in the Mines—New Fire Limits.

Nanaimo, Oct. 17.—The fire limit by-law passed its third reading on Monday night, but not before permission had been given to C. C. McKenzie to erect a new frame building on the site where the building recently burned stood. The main portion of the city is embraced in the limit, and it is generally believed it will tend to lessen the insurance.

The Reform club will give another smoking concert on Tuesday, the 30th inst., when the election of officers will take place. It is expected that great interest will be displayed at this meeting, as several of those nominated are considered strong men.

The bazaar and concert held in St. Andrew's hall yesterday under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the Presbyterian church was a great success.

LONG DISTANCE RIDERS.

New York, Oct. 17.—Arthur B. Smith, the Chicago letter carrier, who came into prominence in the cycling world early in August, by riding from that city to the Metropolis over the Northern route in 7 days, 22 hours and 20 minutes, completed his second long trip at 7:05 last evening. He left Chicago at 5:30 a.m. on the 9th, and therefore covered one thousand miles in seven days 13 hours and 35 minutes, reckoning the hour's difference in time between the two cities. This feat clipped 9 hours and 45 minutes off his previous time, which was the record over the Northern route. The ride between the two cities over the Southern route was accomplished recently by Geo. W. Wolfe, of Chicago, in 6 days, 8 hours and 30 minutes. Smith started with the intention of beating his time, and also making intermediate marks. He succeeded in the latter case, for from Chicago to Cleveland he rode in 2 hours and 45 minutes' quicker time than the trip was ever made before. Smith is a man of wonderful endurance. He is young, but 24 years of age, and seems never to grow tired. He has been riding, more or less, since 1886. He uses his wheel at home on his mail-collecting trips and averages in the work about 2,000 miles a month.

Ward, three-quarter backs; R. A. Whyte and Trimen, half-backs; H. F. M. Jones (captain), L. Crease, A. D. Crease, E. A. C. Gibson, J. Fraser, A. Langley, H. W. Gordon and K. McCrae, forwards.

LACROSSE.

MORTON'S CASE.

To the Sporting Editor: I understand that the executive of the Victoria Lacrosse Club have decided to play Mr. Morton in the final tie for the championship at Vancouver next Saturday. If my memory serves me right, the protest against Morton was withdrawn by the Westminster club on the understanding that he should not play again this season, Mr. Ellis, the president of the Provincial Association and president of the Victoria club, giving his word that Morton would not play again. The above took place at a meeting of the Provincial association in Victoria. The Vancouver representatives were present as well as those from Westminster, and the secretary of the association will no doubt have all the proceedings correctly noted in his minute book. It seems to me a most ill-advised step to play Mr. Morton now, as it will only end in Westminster winning the match by protest, in the event of an actual win by Victoria, and certainly is not an honorable proceeding on the part of the Victoria club after having passed his word to the Provincial Association that Morton would not play again this season. Morton's services, I have no doubt, would be very valuable, but far better to lose the championship in play than to lose it by default. I for one, would like to have an expression of opinion from the members of the club in meeting assembled, before anything definite is done. We have heard all season of the treatment the Victorians have received from the Vancouver and Westminster combine. What can you expect if you put your club at the mercy of the others by such a silly proceeding? The people of Victoria will not be likely to go to Vancouver in large numbers next Saturday if they know for a certainty before they leave that no matter how the game goes Victoria stands to lose by default. I trust the executive will [illegible] the makeup of the team and so prevent a fizzle.

A MEMBER OF THE V. L. C.

It is held by the members of the club that there is no rule to prevent Morton from playing. The fact of the matter is that the protest against Morton was badly handled by the Victoria members of the executive. They should have declined under any consideration to be parties to any agreement that would bar Morton from playing. If the executive disqualified him, they should have demanded that Lewis also be disqualified. We have no doubt that Morton would rather not play, if Victoria would lose the championship thereby, but surely there are enough sportsmen in the provincial executive to prevent the championship being taken from Victoria, because Morton, who has a perfect right to, plays on Saturday.

'FRISCO'S BIG MEETING.

San Francisco, Oct. 17.—Thomas H. Williams, president of the California Jockey Club, has received a telegram from G. A. Cook, manager of the Hawthorne race track at Chicago, stating that a train of eight cars of horses would leave Chicago to-morrow for San Francisco. The horses, among which are some of the best of the eastern circuit, are coming to run during the meeting at the Bay District track, which is to begin on October 27th, and continue until June next.

CONTRACT vs. DAY LABOR.

To the Editor: At last Monday night's meeting of the city council a lengthy letter from the sewerage commissioners was read, based on what appears to me to be extraordinary information, furnished them by Mr. Gore, deputy commissioner of Lands and Works for this province, purporting to show that government road building had been done by day work at a cost of less than half what others had cost by contract. And yet in the face of this the government have adopted the contract system in preference to day work for public works. It is hard to believe, sir, that the government would so wantonly waste the public moneys. It therefore appears to me that there must be something wrong about this statement. What object would the government have in building only one road when they could have built two for less money? Why do they expend $300,000 for government buildings in this city if they could build them for half that sum? I think, sir, it will be somewhat difficult to make the ratepayers of this city believe this strangely contradictory statement, which is put forward as an argument why the sewerage work should be done by day labor rather than by contract. I believe, sir, I am quite within the mark when I say that the sewers at present under construction are costing less by at least 25 per cent. than they would if they were being built by day work. And I maintain that it would be much more beneficial for the laboring men, for were the city doing this work by the day there would not be half so many men employed as there are and have been by the contractors. Now, sir, facts are facts, and it would be well if the ratepayers would look fully into this matter and not allow the commissioners and city council to foolishly squander their money, for it has been fully demonstrated in this city that work done by contract is much the cheapest, when done by home contractors.

CLEVELAND FOR HILL.

He Will Come Out in Support of the New York Democrats.

Washington, Oct. 17.—There is no longer much doubt on the part of the Democratic campaign managers here, in regard to the attitude Mr. Cleveland will assume toward the state campaign in New York. The announcement made on the authority of one of the members of the president's political household that he would register in New York and would vote for the Hill ticket for governor, is construed as settling the question, as far as anyone, except Mr. Cleveland himself, can foretell, what his action is to be. While it is now generally believed that the president will soon let his position be definitely known, there is still a great deal of anxiety to know what means Mr. Cleveland will take to make this declaration. Many of the Democrats with whom I have talked have expressed the hope that he will not write a letter. They have had considerable experience with letters from Mr. Cleveland's pen, and they are afraid that anything he might write would do more harm than good in the present condition of affairs in New York, and even if the letter did no harm in that state it might be injurious elsewhere. They hope that he will confine himself simply to a declaration that he favors the success of the regular Democratic ticket and believes it to be the duty of all New York Democrats to vote for it. It is reported at the Democratic headquarters this afternoon that Mr. Cleveland will send to the New York managers a liberal contribution to the campaign fund, accompanied by a brief letter which will urge the importance of Democrats standing together, so as not to give the Republicans an opportunity to win through the indifference or failure of any Democrat to do his duty. This is just the kind of letter the Democrats here hope the president will write. The sooner he writes it and the larger domination the check he encloses, the more they will like it.

—It is reported along the water front that the steamer Al-ki, of the Pacific Steamship company's fleet, will go on the San Francisco-Puget Sound route in opposition to the Farallon, says the Port Townsend Leader. The Farallon has been doing a good business, both freight and passenger, at reduced rates, and the big company will, it is said, make an effort to run her off the route entirely.

—The cutter Grant went out last evening to search along the coast for the purpose of finding if possible what the identity is of the wreckage that has been reported about the Cape, says the Port Townsend Leader of yesterday. She will also look for the ship Ivanhoe, which left Seattle eighteen days ago, coal laden for San Francisco. Although several days over due nothing has been heard or seen of her. She is an old ship and met with heavy winds after leaving the cape.

—Having for eight years amused the public with that farcical comedy, "A Pair of Kids," Mr. Kendall will present himself to-night in an entirely new play entitled "The Substitute," still portraying the character of an old countryman. The play is styled a comedy-drama, is in four acts, three acts of which are supposed to take place on a farm in the interior of New York state and one act in the city of Buffalo. "Simon Pure," "The Substitute," the character which Mr. Kendall portrays is an old New York State farmer. All the entertaining personalities which enhanced the charm of former creations in this line will be retained in the new character. A special feature of the entertainment will be the introduction of appropriate specialties and new and bright music. The attraction is under the management and direction of Will O. Wheeler, who for several seasons past managed the tours of the late lamented Patti Rosa. Mr. Wheeler promises an entertainment that will please all lovers of good comedy work.

—A dispatch from Port Townsend says that the United States steamer Grant, which left last night for Cape Flattery in search of the ship Ivanhoe, supposed to have foundered during a voyage from Seattle to San Francisco, coal laden, reports that she made a systematic search of the waters from Barclay Sound, Vancouver Island, almost to Gray's Harbor without finding a single vestige of wreckage either afloat or on the beach. Captain Griffin, of the Ivanhoe, is known as one of the most able and courageous skippers sailing on the coast, and probably his vessel has been blown off shore and out of her course. The rumor that the Ivanhoe took fire and burned to the water's edge is not believed, although nothing has been seen of the vessel since September 27. In case of her destruction by fire the derelict hull would surely be sighted by coasting or foreign vessels.

—The forestry department of New South Wales, says the News-Advertiser, have shipped by R. M. S. Arawa to this city a specimen pile, 48 feet long, of turpentine wood, with a view to representing the usefulness of the timber in a number of wharfage works being carried on in this country. This wood is considered especially suitable for piles, one of its recommendations being that it is practically impervious to the teredo navalis, a quality which is well exemplified by some sections taken from the Byron Bay jetty, and now to be seen at the department. One of the piles from which they had been cut had been down eight years, one being taken at low water level and another five feet below it. Both were free, except for some slight ravages on the sap, from penetration by the teredo. Investigations made by the engineer-in-chief for harbors and rivers show that turpentine wood piles will last at least twenty years in pure sea water.

—"Charley's Aunt," the farce which has made such phenomenal records in New York, London, Amsterdam and South Africa, will be presented at the Victoria theatre for the first time, Tuesday and Wednesday and Wednesday matinee, October 23 and 24, under the direction of Charles Frohman. The farce first captured London two years ago, and has been playing there continuously, winter and summer, ever since to business which is so big that the management announces its stay in the English metropolis for another year. Berlin has been enjoying it for six months, and it is to remain there, at the Adelphi Ernst theatre for some time to come. Boston crowded the Columbia and Park theatres for five months and the "Hub" never laughed so heartily before over a play. In New York it is now in its second season. "Charley's Aunt" has made a barrel of money for everybody concerned in its production, and Brandon Thomas, its author, has been made independently rich by it. Charles Frohman's profits from the New York, Boston and Chicago runs exceed $250,000. "Charley's Aunt" is a farce which catches the fancy of women. Everybody in the piece is in love and Cupid has quite a prankesome time before the performance is over. Two young men at college begin the "heart interest" by falling in love with two pretty girls. One of the young men is expecting a visit from his millionaire aunt from Brazil. A luncheon has been arranged for her and the sweethearts are invited. The hour arrives and so do the sweethearts, but the aunt cometh not. A telegram comes in her stead. She has been delayed; they must wait a day or two for her. The young men are loth to lose the companionship of their sweethearts, so they scheme to keep them to the luncheon. They hit upon the plan of getting a college chum, Little Lord Francome Babbely, to personate the Brazilian aunt, so that the affair may go off with perfect propriety. Bab does the aunt business to perfection. He appears in the guise of the old lady from "Brazil where the nuts come from" early in the first act, and he keeps the audience convulsed to the very end. He hugs and kisses the sweethearts of his friends in their presence and makes the friends raging mad; he is made love to and proposed to by a pair of elegant gentlemanly rivals; he tangles things up charmingly and then unravels them delightfully. No funnier farce has ever been seen. The sale of seats opens to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock at Jamieson's.

This will prove one of the most profitable trips ever made by any of the steamers of the line. Among those who boarded the ship here were Charles W. Rhodes, who visits Honolulu on business, and Captain Templar, R. M. A. The names of the other cabin passengers have already been published.

He Left for Australia To-day in Custody of Sergeant Forbes.

Sergeant Forbes and his prisoner, Frederick Bollman, sailed away for Australia on the steamship Arawa. Chief Sheppard and a couple of constables accompanied them to the outer wharf, and Bollman did not seem to relish being paraded in public. A number of people recognized him as the prisoner, but he seemed to think everybody knew him and was looking at him. He told Chief Sheppard that he was glad to get aboard the ship and away from the gaze of the crowd. Sergeant Forbes will breathe easier after he leaves Honolulu. It is true the ship makes a short stay there, that Bollman has neither friends nor money, and that the Hawaiian police did some work on the case and are in sympathy, but still he will be entering a foreign country with his prisoner, and there is danger of trouble. When the ship is there Bollman will be kept locked in his cabin and every precaution taken to insure keeping him in custody.

During his short stay here the city police took quite a liking to Sergeant Forbes and he was [illegible] voyage.

BIG RAFT ADRIFT.

Logs From Astoria for San Francisco Break Loose.

Astoria, Ore., Oct. 15.—The big raft that left on Friday last for San Francisco was off the mouth of the river last night, having drifted north from Tillamook Rock since Saturday evening. The heavy blow of yesterday set a terrific sea rolling, and the huge bulk of piling drifted along with the waves like a great log. The tug still has hold of the raft, but seems unable to make any headway against the sea. A fresh northwest wind is blowing off the coast to-day and this may aid her some in going south, but so far the Monarch seems unable to make any progress whatever. When last sighted the tug and tow were about five miles to the westward of the lightship and drifting slowly north.

10 p.m.—There is no further news from outside regarding the big raft that was supposed by the pilots to have gone to pieces. The tug Relief, which had the Wray Castle in tow, was forced to leave the ship anchored inside the bar on account of heavy seas. Captain Cordner, of the pilot schooner, says he is positive that the piling seen floating about the schooner and lightship this morning was from the raft, as he was able to identify them by spikes driven to hold chains. Mr. Baines, one of the owners of the raft, arrived down from Stella this evening. He says he does not believe the derelict piling was from the raft, and entertains no fear as to her safety. He claims that the raft was constructed so that it would stand the heaviest sea that ever rolled, and if one pile came loose the whole thing would not go to pieces. It is understood that the raft is insured for $15,000, which is about one-half of its cost to the owners.

San Francisco, Oct. 15.—Owners of vessels and seafaring men of all grades here are showing a keen interest in the fate of the long raft which is reported to have been wrecked off the Columbia river. The Southern Pacific railroad company's undertaking of rafting lumber to this port by no means pleases the men engaged in the lumber trade, and the news that the raft had probably been wrecked caused very little surprise along the water front. The raft contained ten thousand spars and piles, and had it been successfully towed into port there is every probability that other shippers of lumber would have followed the example of this company. Only a few months ago another attempt was made to float a big log raft to San Francisco from the Mendocino county coast. That venture, too, met with disaster, all of the logs being lost at sea.

Mr. Baines, mentioned in the above dispatch as one of the owners of the raft, formerly resided in Victoria, being business manager for the Times.

BAPTIST CONVENTION.

Resolutions Adopted Against Hop Growing Industry.

Tacoma, Oct. 16.—The Rev. D. D. Proper, Baptist home missionary, and a large number of the ministers who have been attending the annual meeting of the Northwest Baptist Association, which has associated with it the Baptist churches of Western Washington and British Columbia, seventy-five in all, were in this city yesterday, en route from Centralia, where the meeting adjourned at noon yesterday. Before adjourning the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, A large portion of the fertile land of this convention field is devoted to the culture of hops for brewing purposes; and

"Whereas, A large number of the members of our churches are receiving the greater portion of their financial incomes from hop culture; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That it is the sense of this convention that the raising of hops, barley or other cereals for brewing or distilling purposes is an alliance with the saloon and Satan in the work of ruin and damnation, with which no disciple of Christ ought in any way to be connected."

The committee also reported a resolution, which was adopted, hailing with joy the growth of the prohibition cause, and the approach of the time when no Christian would support men or measures that provide for a continuance of the infamous liquor traffic.

The association elected the following officers: President, W. F. Taylor, of Seattle; vice-presidents, R. McKillop, of Centralia; T. Baldwin, of Victoria; recording secretary, M. W. Miller, of Winlock; corresponding secretary, D. D. Proper, of Seattle.

The association's disbursements exceeded its receipts during the past year by $183, and a considerable portion of this amount was raised at the meeting. It was reported that $750 must be raised forthwith, to pay off the debts of the Grace Baptist seminary. Of this amount $350 was raised on the floor of the convention, and the balance [illegible] through the efforts of Mr. Proper. Mr. Proper reported that $7,000 had been sent out by the New York board of missions for the support of the twenty-seven mission churches, and that in addition to that amount $2,061 had been contributed throughout the jurisdiction of the association.

ASTRONOMICAL WONDERS.

The Revelations Made by Telescopic Photography.

Galileo in his "Siderial Messenger," made a map of 80 new stars which he had discovered in the constellations of Orion's belt and the "Sword"; and since then astronomer after astronomer, as is well known, has added various groups and galaxies to the two or three thousand conspicuous stars of the first six magnitudes which can be always seen with the naked eye. It is curious and not complimentary to the good sense of mankind that those stars should have been looked upon as merely intended to spangle the sky and give light at night. As lamps they were always a failure. Sixty times the total starlight on the clearest night would not equal the illumination given by the moon; and thirty-three million times their radiance would be required to equal sunlight. Yet the stars which are seen even by a powerful telescope are now known to be only an insignificant proportion of those actually existing inside "visible space." Telescopic photography, as practiced to-day in all the observatories, reveals, in almost every apparently blank region of the celestial sphere, countless new and distant worlds, lying far beyond all methods of mortal computation and measurement. The only foot rule with which we can at all estimate the scale of distances in the "visible universe" is light. This travels along the ether at the rate of 186,000 miles in a second, so that the ray which we receive from the sun left its surface eight minutes before it has reached our eyes. By ingenious processes based on complex arithmetic, astronomers have determined the distance of about 80 stars, and the nearest of all of them to our system is Alpha Centauri. The radiance of this star takes, however, about four years to reach human vision, while that which we perceive from Alpha Tauri or Aldebaran was projected from its glittering source 27 years ago; and most of those seen deeper in the night sky are so far off that their present light left them three or four hundred years back. Many are to-day visible whose beams have travelled to our gaze only after a lapse of thousands of years, and there must be radiant streams now on their way from heavenly bodies in the empyrean which will only reach the eyes of our very far-off posterity. To what comparative insignificance do these well known and well assured facts reduce the little corner of space in which our own trivial family of planets had its being and its motion! It seems much to say that the earth is distant from the sun ninety-three millions of miles, so that to travel thither at the average rate of a tourist by steam and rail would take an interval of 600 years. And the outside planet of our family, Neptune, is two thousand eight hundred and twenty-five millions of miles from the sun, so that we may roughly call the diameter of our flying system in space five thousand six hundred and fifty millions of miles. But vast as this sounds, our solar system sinks into a speck when one reflects that if we should represent the interval between the sun and the earth by one inch then to put Aldebaran into his proper place and proportion our chart would have to be nine leagues wide.—From "Astronomy and Religion," by Sir Edwin Arnold, in North American Review for October.

A ROYAL JOKE.

Emperor William's Instruction of an Embarrassed Sailor.

A good-natured joke perpetrated by the Emperor is (our Berlin correspondent says) related from Kiel. As the Emperor William was stepping on board his yacht the other day he was met by a sailor named Joerg, who had in his hand a mug of beer, which he was carrying into the officers' cabin. The Emperor was very much amused at the discomfiture of the poor fellow, who did not know at first what to do, and who finally saluted the Emperor, holding the beer mug convulsively against the seam of his breeches. The Emperor stepped up to the sailor and addressed him most amiably. "See, Joerg, you have done that very stupidly. I will show you how one should behave in such a situation. Go up and imagine that you are the Emperor, and I shall be the sailor Joerg." The poor fellow did not dare remonstrate; he had to come on board by the imperial gangway, and the Emperor William met him below in his new role of a sailor with a beer mug. When he saw Joerg, the Emperor affected some embarrassment, but he then set the glass to his lips, emptied it completely, put it down on the ship's ledge, and then made his salute. "Do you see, Joerg? That is the way it must be done. Now, remember; and now go below and tell them to give you another glass of beer, and one for you, too. If they question you, tell them that I said so, and they should not be angry, for the beer was beautifully fresh and tasted very good."

Miscellany.

The income of merely the principal charitable institutions having their headquarters in London amount to over £7,000,000 per annum, or $35,000,000. That represents a sum equal to half the whole capital invested in the Bank of England. It exceeds the total revenues of all the British colonies together in 1884, and it is as much as the present total annual revenues of all the British colonies, excluding New South Wales, Victoria and Canada. If there is added to this sum the income of the smaller charities. The total benevolence paid voluntarily in the metropolis does not fall far short of ten million pounds or fifty million dollars.

[illegible] shirts are produced by a remarkably economical and effective adaptation of means to ends. The device of cutting out the parts by wholesale from the material is nicely calculated to avoid waste, and great sewing machines, one hundred or two hundred or three hundred together, run cheaply by a single steam engine, sew together the parts, make the button holes, and sew on the buttons, aided only by a touch, here and there from the hands of one hundred, two hundred or three hundred girls, earning from $4 to $7 a week each.

Writes Postmaster J. C. WOODSON, Forest Hill, W. I did so, and one bottle cured me. For the last fifteen years, I have used this preparation with good effect whenever I take

"I have been using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my family for 30 years, with the most satisfactory results, and can cheerfully recommend it as being especially adapted to all pulmonary complaints. I have, for many years, made pulmonary and other medicines a special study, and I have come to the conclusion that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral occupies a position pre-eminent over other medicines of the class."—Chas. CONVICTION WILL STAND.

Mr. Justice Drake So Decided the Sauer Appeal Case.

Mr. Justice Drake, siting as a county court judge, yesterday afternoon gave judgment in the appeal case of Sauer v. Levin, sustaining the conviction of the appellant in the police court of an infraction of the Sunday Closing act. Mr. Justice Drake ruled the same as did the magistrate on the point as to whether or not a meal had been served. W. J. Taylor, of Eberts & Taylor, appeared for Levin, and S. Perry Mills represented Sauer. The judgment is appended:

"The appellant is owner of the Bank Exchange saloon and restaurant, and pays a saloon as well as a restaurant license. The saloon is at one end of the building, divided from the restaurant by a room used by guests to play cards and eat lunch. The appellant supplies on week days what is called a free lunch—that is, customers pay for the liquor they consume and have a lunch given them.

"The evidence shows that on ordinary days the appellant charges 10 cents for a glass of beer; on Sundays he charges 15 cents, and makes the waiter offer the customers a plate of crackers and cheese. The plate of crackers and cheese is a general plate offered to everyone who calls for liquor. If the customers should ask for crackers and cheese he would be charged 15 cents, but if he has a glass of beer with it he is charged no more.

"It is a fact admitted that Charles Freedman came in during prohibited hours and called for beer. The barkeeper refused to serve him unless he ordered what is called a meal, and he was supplied with crackers and cheese, for which he paid the regular Sunday price of 15 cents, which included his beer.

"The appellant's contention is that this is a service of liquor to a guest by a restaurant keeper with his meals. A meal is an unknown quantity and varies with the appetite of the consumer, and therefore any food put down by a person holding a restaurant license beside a person drinking, complies with the act. The act has been read as "loquitur ad vulgus," giving to the words their ordinary meaning. Now picking a crumb of biscuit as an excuse for drinking is not eating a meal. I consider the term "meal" in the act as applying to food that is eaten to satisfy the requirements of hunger, and in the present case it is quite clar that the biscuits were merely as an excuse to enable the appellant to supply liquor. If the contention of the appellant is good, any fragment of food would enable a saloonkeeper to evade the act, if offered to a customer, and whether consumed or not. The liquor here was not supplied by the ordinary restaurant waiters, nor was it supplied in the restaurant, but it was supplied from the saloon bar, and this Sunday plate of biscuits duly put in an appearance.

"Section four of the act states that 'no sale or disposal of liquor shall take place on the premises where in ordinary circumstances liquor shall be sold, nor shall liquor be drunk in such places during the prohibited hours.' The room in which the liquor was consumed is part of the licensed premises, and the appellant calls this room a restaurant for 15 cent meals, chiefly consisting during the prohibited hours of biscuits. In my opinion the appellant has not brought himself within the exception, and I therefore confirm, the conviction with costs.

"I think in cases where a saloon is carried on as well as a restaurant in the same building that the license should clearly define the limits of each business, and that the bar-rooms should not have open communication with the restaurant.

"The municipal council have power to pass by-laws prescribing the form and conditions of the licenses to be granted by the commissioners and to regulate the same, but at present this council has not thought fit to exercise this power. In my opinion there is no subject of greater importance for the council to deal with than this subject of licenses."

BURRARD INLET ROAD.

Proposed Construction Discussed by the Seattle Telegraph.

Some life seems to have been recently infused into the project to build the Burrard Inlet & Fraser River railroad, whose incorporators designed to connect it at Sumas, Wash., or Huntingdon, B. C., which is just across the line, with the Seattle, Lake Shore & Eastern railway, thereby giving that line another outlet, via New Westminster to Vancouver, B. C., says the Seattle Telegraph. The Lake Shore's present connection is via the Canadian Pacific railway at Sumas. It will be remembered that New Westminster and Vancouver voted the proposed route a subsidy of one of two hundred thousand dollars, perhaps more (the figures of the amount are unavailable at present) to aid in the construction of the work. The Northern Pacific at that time had control of the Seattle, Lake Shore & Eastern railway, and it was understood that the Northern Pacific would make a through route to the points indicated in connection with the projected new line. On account of the Seattle, Lake Shore & Eastern passing into the hands of the receivers, and the Northern Pacific following suit, the contemplated line remained in status quo. The present revivication of it is due to the fear that unless something is done soon the Burrard Inlet and Fraser river road may lose its subsidies, and they have petitioned the governments of the two cities to extend the time in which to complete the road. The question has not yet been passed upon. It is known that the Canadian Pacific road, which has a line down to the United States border at Sumas, and controls Bellingham Bay road to Whatcom, where connection is made with the Great Northern to Seattle and points in Washington and Oregon, does not relish the idea of another road entering Vancouver, which they seek to own "body and breeches," and therefore bitterly opposed the new line. It is believed they will defeat the proposition to extend the time for the completion, in which event the new line will remain only on paper, although President Rand who was in Seattle the other day, thinks the two cities still favor the new line and that the completion will occur in the near future, notwithstanding the powerful opposition of the Canadian Pacific management. One of the most nauseating doses ever swallowed by the Canadian Pacific was in the action of the city governments in Vancouver and New Westminster submitting to a vote of the people the question as to whether they should tax themselves to raise the subsidy. The C. P. R. fought the matter "tooth and nail," but the project won. When the matter was tried in the courts on the ground of unconstitutionality, and the Burrard Inlet road came out victorious. The bitterest pill was, however, gulped down by the C. P. R. when they were taxed along with the common people to raise the subsidy with which to build the rival road. That was the last straw that broke the camel's back.

THE KOOTENAY MINES.

Items of Interest from the Kootenay Papers.

Nelson Tribune.

The Silver King is sending down eight tons a day of shipping ore to Nelson, and it is understood that this output will be kept up indefinitely. A. R. McPhee secured the contract for building the mile and three quarter flume that will bring a water supply to the power house at the mine.

The President group of claims, in Goat river district, which were owned by Messrs. Fitch, Fritch & O'Neil, has been sold to a Wisconsin company, and part of the purchase money paid. Work, it is said, will be commenced at once.

The Nelson & Fort Sheppard railway company will build the gap between Five-Mile Point and Nelson this fall. Work will be commenced on Monday. It is not known whether the work is to be done by contract or day's labor, but the men who will do it are in charge of an Italian who had a contract on the Revelstoke & Arrow lake branch of the Canadian Pacific, and who moved his outfit down to Waneta about ten days ago.

"Blake" Wilson and Henry Harshaw returned from the Fort Steele section of East Kootenay on Wednesday. The cattle men of that section have set so high a figure on their beef cattle that butchers cannot handle them. The beef for the South Kootenay towns and mines will be brought in, for a while at least, from Calgary.

Nelson Miner.

The purchase of the Skyline mine by D. McVicar of Nova Scotia is finally settled. The price is $100,000, $10,000 down, the same amount each month for the next three months and the balance in three equal quarterly payments. We understand that the various payments are amply secured by negotiable paper.

Mr. Ed Crockett while developing the Nettie L and the May Be, owned by him and W. Pool, reports that the galena at a depth of ten feet changed to gray copper, which shows an indication of being very rich. This lead, according to several of the best American assayers, carries $40 in gold to the ton.

About 75 men are placer mining on Lardeau creek, and from reports most of them are likely to do well. About $1000 in nuggets and dust have been brought into Trout Lake City during the last few days. A box of the yellow dust containing about $600 was shipped by Thomson on the Arrow for C. B. Hume & Co., of Revelstoke, last Sunday.

The report again reaches us from Victoria that the Hall Mines are about to build a smelter near Nelson large enough to take custom work besides treating their own ores. There is no doubt that such a proceeding has been talked of by the company and probably it will be carried out by and by. But we regret to have to deny the rumor as far as it relates to any immediate action.

Mr. Wagner owns six claims in the Lardeau, the principal of which are the Lardeau and Duncan. While developing the Lardeau the miners struck a large body of solid ore five feet wide. Mr. Wagner on making an examination, found to his great surprise that the ore looked altogether different from any he had obtained before, and took down a sample to Mr. A. H. Harrison for assay, and the button was nearly half as large as the sample assayed, going 3312 ounces to the ton. All now agree that Mr. Wagner owns the boss mine in West Kootenay. He made a new discovery this summer and named it the Francis Jewel. While developing it, a body of solid ore was struck nine feet below the surface, which consists of native silver, bromide of silver and gray copper, averaging over 2000 ounces to the ton. Mr. Wagner's men when he left had cut into the ore body four feet, but had not got through it, so he was unable to ascertain the extent of the vein.

Inhabitants of houses on the south side of Kaslo river were greatly excited on Friday last by the sudden rising of that eccentric stream, caused by the very heavy rains. The river rose about three feet and compelled one family to move out, while others had to get up carpets and other furniture in great haste. The stream has since subsided.

Some time ago mention was made in these columns of a find of C. Wheeton's and J. Adam's. These parties have now on its way to town one ton of ore from their property, which they aver will be the richest ore ever brought into Kaslo. The ore averages all the way through over 5000 ounces. The property is in the well known dry ore belt and the vein is about eight inches wide.

There are several feet of snow at all creek, seriously interfering with work.

TO WATCH THE WAR.

British Army Officers to Follow the Two Contending Armies.

Among the passengers for the Orient by the Empress of India, which sailed on Monday, were Captain Cavendish and Captain Du Boulay, two British army officers who have been deputed by the British foreign office to follow the Chinese and Japanese armies respectively, in the capacity of military attaches, and carefully observe their tactics. Captain Cavendish stated that he belonged to the 31st, or Princess Louise Highlanders, while Du Boulay belongs to the Royal Artillery. Cavendish proceeds to Cheefoo, thence to Pekin, where he will receive his orders from the British minister. Du Boulay goes to Tokio for instructions. "Where the Chinese army is," said Cavendish, "I don't know. I doubt whether there is one, but I shall find out when I get there. Yes, there will be some little danger in carrying out our instructions, not only from the enemy's bullets, but from the frost and snow, for the winter in Corea is very severe. This is the first modern war in which the most approved weapons of warfare will be employed, and it is on this account that we are deputed to note the results. The outcome of the war is doubtful, and depends on the way in which the Japanese conduct themselves. If they strike quickly they will likely win, but if they give China time her vast resources will enable her to come out on top. The Chinamen from the north of the empire are giants, six feet high and more, and make excellent soldiers when properly efficered and drilled. If China gets time, she will get together an army composed of these men, who will give Japan not a little trouble."

A STRANGE STUDY IN CRIME

Why Did Robert Corrin Rob an Old Friend and Immediately After Visit Him?

Rather Remarkable Case Tried in Police Court This Morning —Prisoner Held.

The hearing of the case of Robert Corrin, burglar, coupled with his own confession to the officers of the law and statements made outside of the witness box, bring to light some strange facts and tell of actions on the part of the prisoner of which he himself could hardly give explanation. Corrin and W. H. Turnbull, the man whose home at 76 First street was broken into, were shipmates in the British navy. Thrown much together, a friendship sprang up between them, and when they parted twelve years ago at Callao it was with regret. In after years they both came to Victoria to live, but never met until the night of the robbery. Mr. Turnbull thought Corrin dead. Corrin knew Turnbull was alive and that he lived here. On Friday night Corrin started to go to Turnbull's house, and from his line of action it is evident that he did not have any wrong in his heart. On the way he met a gentleman named Marshall and openly asked him where Turnbull lived and was properly directed. Arriving at the house he found it in darkness, and then it must have been that temptation came to him. He forced open the back window and climbed across a table into the kitchen. He lit a lot of ordinary sulphur matches and dropped the stumps on the floor. He found a lamp on the table, lighted it and searched the house. He collected a lot of silverware and then went so far as to enter the bedroom where Mr. and Mrs. Turnbull slept. With the light raised up he gazed for a time at the face of the man who had worn the blue alongside of him and was his friend in the old ship. It may have been that he decided there not to rob his old friend and to own up to him, for he extinguished the light, put it on the floor, crept through the window, went to the front door, and by knocking loudly awoke the sleeping Turnbull. The latter opened the door and Corrin made himself known. Turnbull invited him in and lit a lamp in the kitchen. It was then that he recognized his old shipmate and they sat down for one of those talks that men have after years of separation. It was 10.30 o'clock when Corrin awoke Turnbull, and it was after midnight when he said good-bye to him and left the house. He did not make a confession, if he had intended to. Mr. Turnbull noticed that the kitchen window was up and that the lamp was gone from the table, but his suspicions were in no way aroused. Next morning when Mrs. Turnbull got up she stumbled over the missing lamp on the floor. She immediately searched the house and discovered that the silverware was missing. At 7 o'clock that morning the police were notified. Corrin also stole a castor and some smaller articles from the table at the Windsor, and when he shipped on the Northern Hay as Ike James all the stolen property was carried into the forecastle stowed away in his kit. When the officers arrested him he admitted the theft, and in explanation said that his only excuse was "the damned drink." In the police court this morning he was as abject and as low in spirits as a man can possibly be. He admitted everything and when Mr. Turnbull gave his evidence was ashamed to look at him, let alone cross-examine him. He simply stood in the box with his back to the crowd, and once corrected one of the officers in a simple detail as to the finding of the silverware in his baggage.

He was adjudged guilty of the larceny sor and sentenced to one month at hard labor. On the charge of burglary he was committed for trial at the fall assizes. The magistrate said that the month's sentence will not add anything to the time which he will be given for the burglary, but that it would run concurrently with it. When it was all over Corrin hurried across the space in the room between the dock and the entrance to the jail yard.

Corrin, while he has been a drinking man, has never, as far as known, done anything seriously wrong. Mr. Turnbull testified that when he woke him up he had evidences of liquor on him, but was a long way from being drunk. Despite testified that when he woke him up he one in the court this morning, from the magistrate down, who did not sympathize with the prisoner.

NEWS OF THE DOMINION.

Rev. J. E. Starr Promises a Sensation re Baby Farming.

Ottawa, Oct. 17.—The report is in circulation that Sir Donald Smith will retire from the Dominion parliament at the end of this term. It is believed here to be true.

Dalton McCarthy is here attending the supreme court. He does not think there will be a general election before next June.

The government is erecting a small but complete model dairy at Rideau Hall where Lady Aberdeen desires her children and servants to learn how to make good butter.

Hon. Mr. Patterson, minister of militia, to be absent about three weeks. With Foster in England, Haggart in Virginia and Patterson down by the sea, the cabinet cannot be expected to take any very important steps during the next month.

Toronto, Oct. 17.—Rev. J. E. Starr, agent of the Children's Aid Society is preparing a report on the baby farm question and promises some sensational revelations. He has found fourteen unlicensed baby farms and claims that he can prove their victims in the past year number several hundred. Mr. Starr charges that the government regulations compel any young woman who enters an infant's home to remain six months and care for her child along with one another. Thus they are driven to illegal baby farming.

Quebec, Oct. 17.—The late rains caused much damage at St. Ann de Laperade, and many washouts are reported. The sun in the past eight days only shone four hours. Crops are nearly all washed out and the valley of the Lake of St. John and county of Portneuf suffered greatly, the water being a foot deep in the roadways at places. Bridges have been carried away at St. Deschambault, Portneuf and St. Albans, the damage amounting to $200,000. At Hedleyville the residents feared the flood last night, as the water was rising rapidly. A blinding snow storm also set in last night and turned to rain. The water is at a standstill this morning, but a flood is feared.

SCOTCH HOSPITALITY, 1629.

How the Country Gentleman Feasted in the Olden Days.

We have an interesting account of hospitality in 1629, which gives a good idea of the manner in which a country gentleman of the period lived. Dinner and supper were brought in by the servants with their hats on, a custom which is corroborated by Fynes Moryson, who, writing in 1598, says that, being at a knight's house who had many servants to attend him, they brought in the meat with their heads covered with blue caps. After washing their hands in a basin they sat down to dinner, and Sir James Pringle said grace; the viands seemed to have been plentiful and excellent. "big pottage, long kale, bowe, or white kale, which is cabbage, 'broch sopps,' powdered beef, roast and boiled mutton, a venison pie in the form of an egg, goose;" then they had cheese cut and uncut and apples. But the close of the feast was the most curious thing about it.

The tablecloth was removed, and on it put a "towel the whole breadth of the table, and half the length of it, a basin and ewer to wash, then a green carpet laid on, then one cup of beer set on the carpet, then a little long lawn serviter, plaited up a shilling or little more broad, laid cross over the corner of the table, and a glass of hot water set also on the table, then there be three boys to say grace the first, the Thanksgiving; the second, the Paternoster; the third, a prayer for a blessing to God's church. The goodman of the house, his parents, kinstolk, and the whole company, they then do drink hot waters, so at supper, then to bed, the collation which is a stoupe of ale." The whole accout, it must be said, is not very intelligible, and it must have been a somewhat formidable prelude to the post-prandial toddy.—The Scotish Review.

NEW YORK POLICE SCANDAL.

Commissioners Refuse to Retire Officers Who Have Resigned.

New York, Oct. 17.—The police board refused to retire Policeman Henry McArdle, whom no charges are pending. McArdle was formerly a detective at the Grand Central depot. He was accused before the Lexow committee of being in league with green goods men. The board did not act upon his application for retirement, when it was filed, and McArdle went before Judge Giegerich, who granted a writ of mandamus to compel the board to act one way or another. The corporation counsel also advised the board that it must act. The commissioners in taking up the McArdle case also heard a report from Superintendent Byrnes on the application for retirement of about a dozen other officers. The superintendent reported that no charges were pending against any of the officers named, including McArdle, and that he had been informed by Mr. Williams that no charges were in preparation against any of the men. President Martin said that the superintendent's report did not go far enough. "What this board wants to know," said he, "is whether any evidence has been presented before the Lexow committee on which charges might be based. The board took a vote on McArdle's application and voted unanimously against retiring him. Superintendent Byrnes was sent for and told that it was the wish of the board that he should consult Mr. Wellman and ascertain whether any evidence had been adduced from the senate committee on which the officers seeking retirement might be put on trial in the near future. No action was tak-

A STREAK OF LUCK.

A Victoria Stevedore Falls Heir to a Large Fortune.

James M. Morrison, who has been engaged in the stevedoring business in Victoria, off and on, for six years, has received letters which go to show that he and his three brothers have fallen heirs to a South African estate valued at $15,000,000. Mr. Morrison has two brothers living in California, and the third is a stevedore at St. John, N. B. The estate was left by an uncle named William McKay who recently died at Youngstown, Kimberley, South Africa. He was a bachelor. Mr. McKay, who was of a wandering disposition, drifted to South Africa many years ago and amassed the immense fortune, which he has now left to his nephews. A dispatch from South Africa published in the eastern papers first attracted the attention of the brother in St. John, and he immediately took steps to find out the truth of the report and obtain a copy of the will. Mr. McKay left his executors $1,500,000 to use, if necessary, in finding the heirs and paying any legal expenses that might be incurred through a dispute over the will.

Mr. Morrison expects to join his brother at St. John, when they will proceed to prove their right to the estate.

POLICY SHOPS RAIDED.

One of the Mistresses Prominent in Society Circles.

Cincinnati, Oct. 17.—The police made a general raid on the policy shops last night and a sensational expose resulted this morning in the police court. The ... the shops in New Haven, Conn., last Saturday. The dispatches said that the "drawings" came from this city. Of course, that called for a show of action here, though it is doubtful whether any of the prisoners will be convicted. Among the places raided was a private dwelling at 662 Race street. Policeman Holz dressed in citizen's clothes made a "play" and Lieut. Winters arrested the woman in charge, besides securing all the "drawings" and slips with a pile of small coin. To-day it became known that the woman is Mrs. Philomena Theobald, a leader in the German society of the Hills and mistress of an elegant mansion on the Sycamour street hill. There she lived and the source of her large income has always mystified her neighbors. Among the latter, especially the exposure of her double life created much agitation. In the court the policy cases were all continued to October 20.
